Pastor's Ponderings:

A Compelling Vision:

About two weeks ago I heard a very enlightening reflection from our District Superintendent Susan Leonard-Ray on the future direction of the church. She pointed out that the Christian church has faced a major change every five hundred years in its history. In 410 AD, the Roman Empire fell, forcing the church to make a major shift in how it did ministry. In 1056 AD, the Roman church split from the Orthodox Church. As you have heard me talk about from my trip to Germany this summer, in 1517, Martin Luther posted his 95 theses to the door of the castle church in Wittenberg and started the Protestant reformation. Today, we are at another 500 year crossroad as we seek God's guidance on the direction of the church.

Susan related the story of the Israelites' exodus out of Egypt to how we need to approach our journey today. When the Israelites were finally safe from attack by Pharaoh's army, they were only a few miles from the Promised Land. Yet, it took them forty years to get there. Why did it take so long? One reason was that it gave the people time to get to know each other so they could work as a people. They had to learn how to live in community. Latimer does not have to wait forty years to work as a community. The people of Latimer already know each other. Latimer, though, has one of the problems faced by the people of Israel. It does not have a compelling vision which is telling it where to go. Latimer has several fine ministries it does, but as we have discussed in our forward focus team meetings, right now Latimer is not on a road which takes it to a specific place. As I learned this past weekend while attending the School of Congregational Development in Atlanta, Ga, that vision needs to direct Latimer in how to make disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world. With that vision Latimer will be able to travel on a road which has meaning.

I attended several seminars which gave me exciting ideas to suggest to Latimer as it develops its vision. The titles of some of these seminars were “The Rhythm of Discipleship,” “Reaching and Discipling Younger Generations,” “A Missional Mindset,” “Roadmap to Renewal,” and “The Rural Multisite.” I look forward to sharing these ideas with Latimer. Latimer can also engage other resources as it works on its vision of ministry.

As we learn from the story of the Promised Land, some will grumble. There are those who do not want to change. Some of the Israelites wanted to go back into Egypt. They wanted to give up their freedom for the easy way out---just doing it like they had always done it. They romanticized a past which had not been very good to them.

There are also many who will be scared. When twelve Israelites were sent in to survey the Promised Land, only two, Caleb and Joshua, came back and were confident that the Israelites could make their way into the Promised Land. The rest expressed doubt and talked of the giants they could not conquer.

Latimer will make its way into the Promised Land. The synopsis of what I learned at the School of Congregational Development is that Latimer has to be open to many ideas and has to include all people in its vision of ministry. A roadmap can be developed as long as faith is kept and we trust in the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

message to love one another.”

Alice likes Latimer because it is so accepting and non-judgmental.

Special Offering from SC Annual Conference:

Dear Colleagues in Ministry,

Though it is summer now, soon school will be back in session and the annual Epworth Work Day will be upon us.

This offering tradition dates back decades when church members would give a day’s worth of wages for the children at Epworth. Over the years the emphasis has changed a bit, but its importance is still very much alive. Remember, Epworth is not an apportioned item and relies heavily on this offering to provide for the 80 to 100 children who are in our care each day.

An Epworth offering helps break the cycle of abuse and neglect of children and helps tackle the issues of poverty and illiteracy in our communities.

I thank you in advance for your faithfulness.

From the Witness Team:

The Witness Team met on Wednesday, August 23rd with two things to discuss.

The first was to go around the table and discuss and get feedback from everyone about VBS, both the block party and the actual 3 day adventure. From what everyone said, they felt it was a huge success. We also talked about what we might do next year to add even more excitement than what we had for this year's block party.

Next we started the discussion about taking part in this year's, "Belton Standpipe Festival". We will be having a booth and will be offering nachos with cheese and chili, balloons, and bottled water. There will be sign-up sheets to help man the booth on the library table starting in the first part of September.

Proceeds from this booth will go towards offsetting the cost of the new Church Directory which will come out the first of next year.

The History of Labor Day:

Labor Day in the United States of America is a public holiday celebrated on the first Monday in September. It honors the American labor movement and the contributions that workers have made to the strength, prosperity, laws, and well-being of the country.

Beginning in the late 19th century, as the trade unions and labor movements grew, trade unionists proposed that a day be set aside to celebrate labor. "Labor Day" was promoted by the Central Labor Union and the Knights of Labor, which organized the first parade in New York City. This first Labor Day, which was held on September 5, 1882, included a concert, speeches, and picnics.

In 1887, Oregon was the first state of the United States to make it an official public holiday.

On June 28, 1894, President Grover Cleveland signed the bill making Labor Day an official federal holiday.

Bits of History:

In 1925, the Belton Circuit was formed. Belton and Ebenezer were a part of that circuit. At different times Hebron, Bethesda, and Oak Hill were a part of that circuit.

Latimer was made a station appointment in 1956-57.

In 1881-82, A. C. Latimer joined the church by transfer. The name of the church at this time was Belton Methodist.

1893-95 - A tower, steeple, and chancel were added to the frame building. The roof was remodeled.

Bishop's Corner:

Trusting God for the Next Steps -

By Bishop L. Jonathan Holston

“God can do anything, you know—far more than you could ever imagine or guess or request in your wildest dreams! He does it not by pushing us around but by working within us.”— Ephesians 3:20-21

I am truly excited to be a part of a team that has God-sized dreams and who trusts the work we do together. It is a recognition that the church was not built for our pleasure but for God's purpose.

In a reflection of the previous quadrennium, it is evident that we have worked intentionally to foster organizational health at every level of the annual conference from the extended cabinet to the district to the local church. Annual district visits were initiated with the goal of creating a climate of trust, challenge and support. In the first year, the extended cabinet, staff and key leaders visited every district for listening sessions.

In the second year, this conference team held “road shows” and traveled to every district to engage local church lay leaders as well as lay servants around Patrick Lencioni's book, “Five Dysfunctions of a Team.”

Year three district meetings were referred to as “barbeque bashes.” During this time, local church leadership teams (laity and clergy) were invited to consider “The Leadership Contract,” by Vince Molinaro.

This year we are engaged in a time of district visits in which local church teams have been invited to participate in a Para. 213 (The Book of Discipline) process that we have named Forward Focus. Truly, this is a process of invitation for congregations to assess their current situation in light of potential ministry opportunities. It concludes with an identification of next steps going forward and the possible resourcing of ministry.

This level of engagement and investment at the local church level has proven to be both exciting and overwhelming as more than a third of our congregations are embarking on the Forward Focus process. As local congregations complete their Forward Focus work, their outcomes will shape the resources that the annual conference can offer to help churches move toward greater vitality.

As the Ephesians passage reminds us, God does not push us around but is always at work within us. My prayer is that as we work together to make a difference at the local level, God will continue to surprise us with opportunities to share the love of Christ in ways that are beyond our wildest dreams. I am excited about how God is at work in South Carolina.
